Comments:

Hi - I am writing to complain about how banks charge overdraft fees. I was recently charged 6 insufficient fund fees due to one check that caused the overdraft. All of these fees were purchases using a debit card that could not possibly been approved if my account was overdrawn. The check that overdrew my acct was cleared the day after these debit card purchases were made. I think it is robbery that a bank is able to reorder purchases in order to assess unfair fees on a client account. I have complained several times about this to JPMorgan Chase, but they will do nothing about it. I will be forced to bank elsewhere, which is a hassle. Thanks, Ryan Davis
