

From: William Honner
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Please help us consumers and do something about these outlandish fees. It is perfectly reasonable for banks to simply deny charges that would overdraft accounts, if the money is not there the bank should not accept the debit. This would require nothing to implement but a decision to do so on the part of the bank. Please begin to push back and protect us consumers.

Thanks,

William Honner