I would like to add my comments to the case. I made a personal appearance before a representative of Provident Bank in Leesburg, VA twice to request that they not allow my account to be withdrawn over my balance amount. I was assured this was possible. I did this after suddenly discovering extra charges twice that ended up equaling the amount of my NEXT direct deposit. Finally, one last time, I lost my job, and before my last direct deposit, I was again overdrawn. They had not put a halt to the practice. When I wasn't able to pay the overdraft, they hired a shister law firm in Richmond, VA to sue me, for THIER failure! I sincerely hope this practice is stopped!
