

From: Charles Williams
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

---

Comments:

Federal Reserve,

I prefer the banks are required to notify customers that their accounts will be over drawn and give them the option to accept or decline the transaction. A $20+ overdraft fee is significant when the technology exists to cancel the transaction. This is another example of corporate America taking advance of its customers.

Thanks,

Charles