Dear Federal Reserve Board Director:

I support the proposed requirement that would require financial institutions to obtain consumers' affirmative consent (or opt-in) before any overdraft fees or charges may be imposed on consumers' accounts.

Banks should get explicit permission before enrolling customers in the most expensive overdraft system, automatically covering overdrafts and charging high fees, and should be stopped from using unfair practices to increase their overdraft fees.

I am employed by a bank and I feel that it is totally unfair to AUTOMATICALLY provide this service. The customer should have to request it. The transaction should be halted at the point of sale if the account is overdrawn. That would be true customer service. Please do something to stop this practice.....it can be devastating for the consumer.

Sincerely,
