I have been hammered with the overdraft fees from my bank. So bad, that when my payroll hits my account the bank pays their selves first. The last amount was $127.00 (that's a lot of grocery money for me and my daughters). It is averaging every payday an estimated $80.00 to the banks because they are not updating the accounts so you cannot see the true balance in your account and if it appears positive - you most likely will use your funds available. Something must be done. It's a big rip off.
