Someone needs to stop or control banking policies regarding overdraft fees. $35 for a $5 check is ridiculous. And then..they pay the largest check first so that you have 6 or 7 more smaller checks that they can charge you the $35 fee for on each one. I think we also need to control credit card companies. Just doesn't seem right that they can raise your rate for something that is happening on another card. They also have been lowering your available balance for no reason.
