

From: Emy Goldsmith
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Bank of America has really ripped me off and I will never bank with them again. In one afternoon they charged me $250 in overdraft fees from my debit card. I bought little things. A holiday card, a coffee, etc. For each they charged me $38 dollars. They could have rejected my card at any time. Instead they just kept charging me. They also could have picked up the phone to let me know I was overdrafting, but they didn't, the next morning they continued to charge me $38 each time I used my card. This behavior is SO unfair and should be illegal. Please make laws to stop banks from ripping people off! Docket No. R-1343

Thank you,