

From: Walter Tortorici
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

---

Comments:

There is no reason that an attempt to withdraw funds from an account with insufficient funds should be blocked and a reason for blocking. This overdraft protection is still a way for banks to charge for transferring funds from linked bank accounts when the customer could be done the same thing free if they were told the account would be overdrawn.