

From: Russ Morgan
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Date: Mar 30, 2009

Proposal: Regulation E - Electronic Fund Transfers
Document ID: R-1343
Document Version: 1
Release Date: 12/18/2008
Name: Russ Morgan
Affiliation:
Category of Affiliation:
Address:
City:
State:
Country:
Zip:
PostalCode:

Comments:

Anything the Fed does to control banks is a good thing. The banking system has manipulated software and caked in on people who are living payday to payday. Its very easy to get hit with 300 or 400 dollars of charges for overdrafts. A bank charges .25 cents to use your pin with debit cards, overdraw your account and you just spent 35.75 (US Bank)$35.50 overdraft and .25 cents for the original fee. The banks are robbing Americans at every turn. England has a class action Law Suite for the same type of activity. When are Americans going to be protected from greedy banks and financial institutions. Or do we just keep getting run into the ground and then get told we are bailing out banks with the very money comming from the people they rip off. Google NSF Rippoffs and read some comments that come up.