

From: Caitlin M Berkery
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Date: Mar 29, 2009

Proposal: Regulation E - Electronic Fund Transfers

Document ID: R-1343

Document Version: 1

Release Date: 12/18/2008

Name: Caitlin M Berkery

Affiliation:

Category of Affiliation:

Address:

City:

State:

Country:

Zip:

PostalCode:

Comments:

Overdraft fees that Bank of America charge are ridiculous. I had just switched to direct deposit and did not realize that my paycheck hadn't gone through yet, so I made purchases with my debit card. Some of the purchases were $1 or $2 and they still charged $35 for every purchase. The total fees ended up being around $300!! Obviously if I knew that I was overdrawing I wouldn't have continued to make purchases but I didn't receive a notice from them that I was doing it until 2 weeks later when I had already figured it out. I spoke to 4 different people and everyone was rude to me. I have never done this before, and I always pay my credit card bills, but they wouldn't take any of that into account and basically told me I was irresponsible. I think that something needs to be done about these overdraft fees.