How can the banks charge up 37.50 for an over draft of only a few dollars, I'm having trouble just making it every month and then my employer check bounced and they ended up charging me over 400 in banking fee which was just about the same as the check was in the beginning, I need all the money I can get just for my medical drugs at this time in my life and this just another way to put me under, please help. Thank You
