Hi,

I don't like the overdraft fees. I'll check my account to see if I have money in it, buy something, and the next thing I know there's an overdraft because they were late processing a previous withdrawal. This is very grievous, especially so in the economy now. Money has to be spent wisely to keep the economy going, not be spent on ridiculous overdraft fees that the banks mistake in the first place. The order should not be able to go through. I would love to have the choice to not be automatically signed up for the overdraft program.

Thanks
