I would like to request that the fees attached to bank accounts that overdraft are not a "courtesy" to me. Everyone makes an error now and then but to send a person's bank account to a spiral of fee is senseless and not a service to me. I would like for my banking institution to treat me as a customer that it wants to keep. The law that lets this happen to consumers needs to go up for a vote and needs to be removed. I think during this time of economic instability everyone should pull together that means banks included.
