Comments:

Hellow my name is Jerry Gray, a proud owner of a Sears Hometown Store. Recently there are a few comments I would like to state in reference to this Docket. I would like to see my buisness continue to prosper in the furture. I applaud the recently released clarification that would allow for the continued offering of deferred-interest financing for my customers. The new guidelines go a long way in ensuring that consumers understand the terms of these promotions and can use them responsibly. Consumers are feeling the effects of a slumping economy and need financing options for purchasing big-ticket items, especially household appliances that sometimes need replacement regardless of whether or not they have the cash to pay for it at the time. One of the worst economies in decades has already resulted in widesread job loss and store closures. Being able to continue to offer varied promotional options on expensive products will help me keep my store open and my employees on the job. My Hometown store offers a wide-range of trusted Sears appliances and products. Hometown stores are typically located in smaller communities where you are not likely to find large department stores. They carry primarily large-ticket items - many of which are offered along with deferred-interest financing offers to ease the financial burden. My store has been in the community for 15 years and employs 6 workers. These clarifications will allow for continued sales and therefore help to ensure the viability of my store and others like mine for years to come. Thanks for your time in reading my statements in the time we need your help along with the familys that takes advatage of the deferred-interest financing offers.

Thanks

Jerry Gray
