My name is Corey E. Olsen.

Good affordable credit is essential to the health of the nation's neighborhoods. Financial institutions must be held accountable to participate in the real economy by offering quality loans and community investments. Thank you for initiating the process of updating the Community Reinvestment Act.

The past decade has shown how devastating high-cost, predatory credit can be to the nation. Toxic credit that was targeted to low-income people and communities of color pushed the entire economy to the brink of collapse and has left devastation in the form of rampant unemployment, faltering state and local budgets, massive numbers of foreclosures and abandoned buildings.

It is imperative that the banks, many of them the very ones who caused this crisis, repair the damage and continue to do good business in communities. An updated and modernized Community Reinvestment Act can help.

We need:

* Real Accountability and Fairness for Banks. Banks like Bank of America and Wells Fargo that took down the economy should not receive outstanding ratings. Banks should no longer be allowed to pick which of their areas they are graded on or which parts of their companies get looked at.

* Banks must get failing grades if they discriminate by offering toxic loans, less credit, worse credit or inadequate services to African-American and Latino communities.

* Strengthen the requirements for banks to work with us. If they are not doing their jobs, we will be the first to know. We need to be able to challenge the banks directly to meet credit needs.

Sincerely,
