Comments:

@@@I had just one late payment on my credit card after years of paying in full and on time (I believe paying in full is looked upon negatively by the credit card industry) and because of that one late payment, my interest rate more than doubled. This is simply wrong. As soon as I pay off this card I will be ending my relationship with this company and will find another company to do business with. I hope "truth in lending" becomes an enforced reality instead of just hollow words.
