Dear Dr. Bernanke:

Millions of homeowners are facing foreclosure due to deceptive subprime lending practices.

The time has come to regulate subprime lending and help homeowners get back on their feet.

The Federal Reserve should:

- Prohibit lenders from making loans that become unaffordable with interest rate increases - Stop the misuse and abuse of stated income loans
- Reduce or eliminate prepayment penalties on subprime loans - Hold lenders responsible for the actions of brokers

Sincerely,

Paul Gordon
