Comments:

I am a Bank of America Debit card holder and I have been charged numerous amounts of over draft fees during the month of July that totaled to 8. I personally had been made to understand that these were all my fault. But I was still shocked because I regularly check my account status online. This problem has given me many set backs. Although I make mistakes at times I believe I should pay for those but to be manipulated by my own bank is way out of the line. I think this situation should be dealt with accordingly and customers such as myself should be compensated for it.
