Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

Tired of fees on credit cards and also excessive fees at banks. We might as well be flushing our hard earned money down the drain. What American family can ever get ahead when most of the money earned is going for "who knows what kind of fees". People are trying and trying very hard to meet their bills but if the credit card companies charge more in interest than the payment is then how can that happen. The average American needs help if we want our economy to ever get a lift.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Roberta Summers
