Subject: Regulation AA

Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

These proposed rule changes are long overdue and not nearly enough. In Europe they have addressed the issue of stealing one's personal data from magnetic credit cards by going to a new type of card not yet available to us. Why? The card giants are certainly making enough to invest some of our money into the new system but like everything else if they are not losing money (we the customers are!) they will do nothing unless forced by regulation.

Sincerely,
