Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

When we look back in time to when there no credit cards, to this day when rates are over 20% it almost seemlike a third world country plot to take control of the have nots by using trickery and financial ignorance rather than force. The end results are a no win for everybody because we have stopped prosperity and eliminated more of a furture customer base. They are unscrupulous and certainly have no compassion for their fellow Americans. Half of my mail is from credit card companies luring you in for the kill and creating a landfill of paper.

Sincerely,

Mr. daniel somers
