Subject: Regulation DD

Overdraft fees that banks charge are completely unfair and unethical. As a 21 year old college student, err poor college student, it sucks  when due to my busy schedule that I sometimes don't remember that I'm close to being out of money in my checking account. What really sucks is when I spend something like 8 dollars and I only have 5 dollars and Bank of America charges me 35 f dollars, I think on default this overdraft fee should be disable and people should opt for it by calling their bank. Otherwise the overdraft fees that these banks are eye gougingly taking from my pockets should be OFF.
