Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

When you favor credit card companies over citizens, you contribute to a debtors economy where citizens are in prison. These credit card debtors will take the first job offer just to make credit card payments. They cannot sustain these high fees and eventually, they will default. Then, the credit card company, the card user and the country will all suffer. If your conscience doesn't tell you usury is amoral, your mind should tell you its unsustainable.

Sincerely,

Ms. Barbara Forman
