Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

These credit card companies have been given a liscense to steal from the consumer. It's time to help us. We help make up this nation and we are tired of being screwed by the credit card companies. How dare they line their pockets with our money by hiking up our interest, even if the consumer is not late. Bank of America's head hauncho was on TV saying, we have the right to protect our investors, so we raise their interest even if they are not late, because they have another bill. What's it to them, as long as they get their payment, other than just plain greed. They are getting paid on time. Do they not realize consumers are being forced into bankruptcy by those tactics. Because when they raise them, then we can't afford to pay them. Not only that-we hate them. They hold us hostage and they are allowed to. By allowing these tactics to continue, you are hurting our economy. because of our forced bankruptcy. hand. Make them start applying our payments on our low interest. What's with the interest charges paid on the previous month. Please do something about these greedy mongrels. We need your help.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Angelina graff
