Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

Consumers on a whole are losing ground, whilst credit card company's wallets are getting fatter. We are losing our rights as consumers with each and every rate hike or assessed fee allocated to use by the credit card companies. This absolutely cannot continue - if you think the economy is unstable (at best) right now, imagine what it is going to look like if you don't pull the reigns in on the current practices of the credit card companies. Please do not let the credit card companies continue their abusive practices.

Sincerely,

Mr. John Vermaes
