Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

The rules of the credit card game have been stacked for too long in favor of the credit card companies. Since they refuse to play fair, please act on the behalf of public to set up rules that protect consumers from becoming victims.

There's nothing wrong with credit card companies making money from consumers -- let's just do the right thing to make sure that customers don't become victims.

Sincerely,

Mr. Aaron Rowe
