Dear Email comments,

I feel the credit card companies, have been abusing their customers for a long time. What businesses do you know that abuse their customers. Where as a customer you have no recourse. In some situations you have to have a credit card. I personally try not to use them. I also think the interest rates are way out of line. And changing the terms at any time they feel like. I personally think this whole industry has brought this problem on themselves. And I did listen to the hearings.

Sincerely,

Mr. Raymond Meehan
