Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

All credit card companies should now make all of their accounts changed to 0% on all the consumers's outstanding total balances for the next five years in order that the American consumer is able to pay down those amounts owed.

I guarantee that if it is not done in the next year, the financial collapse of all credit card companies will occur within that same five year period.

It is inevitable.

Sincerely,

Mr. Mario Rivera
