Dear Email comments,

The credit card industry continues to profit on the backs of those who can least afford it. They are no better than a drug dealers preying on helpless junkies. They willingly and knowingly rain their cards on you and then punish you without mercy or remorse when you fall into their trap.

They have grown fat and arrogant off the poor and less knowledgeable. It is time to put an end to their feeding frenzy.

Sincerely,

Mr. Steve Heberling
