Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

I find it reprehensible that the credit card companies are allowed to prey on the poorest citizens, the ones that can least afford the high interest rates while the rich keep getting richer. Also, when my son was in college, he was bombarded with credit card and no job. How can you allow that to happen and not protect young people that aren't even in the work force? The laws are all for the protection and benefit of the rich.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Karin Govoni
