Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

I'm so happy to learn that the Federal Reserve has proposed new rules to prevent credit card companies from acting like loan sharks. It's refreshing to have a gov't agency working for the public good. I'm sure you're getting a lot of pressure from the banks that have been using punitive credit card interest rate increases and late fees to transfer working people's wealth into their own coffers. Hang in there! Please do all you can to get these rules in place. Credit card companies should do business fairly. No more usury!

Thanks much!

Sincerely,

Ms. Stephanie Eastwood
