Dear Email comments,

Usury used to be illegal! Credit card companies need to be regulated and follow more rules. I just don't understand their concept: First, they make it easy to get credit, and then make it tough to pay back the debt. Credit card companies do not care at all about the person in debt, they only care about making more and more profit on the money they 'sell' you. This needs to stop because it does not help anyone, including the economy, and our country. Credit card company practices are destructive!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Debbie Sequichie-Kerchee
