Dear Email comments,

Dear Sir,

I adhere to belief that most people will be content when things appear fair. Please do your best to level playing field that is unfairly tipped in not only the credit card companies' interests, but big business in general. Sir, I ask only for fairness and reciprocity, which is missing as a result of consumers' utter lack of bargaining power credit issuers tendency for generating creative methods of generating more cash flow. Credit card companies have not conducted their businesses consistent with the principles of our free market economy, and it is this I ask you to act to change.

Sincerely,

Mr. Daniel Loew
