Dear Email comments,

Please do what you can to stop this madness. The story never changes. Give people an inch and they will take a mile until enough people pull together to stop it. Do you remember when credit card companies targeted freshman in college? I do, I was one of them. Now I see what is happening to my parents, my friends, and everyone else in this disastrous economy. People are desperate and they are being preyed upon to clean up the mess they did not create. Your support is needed for this credit piracy to end now! Thank you.

Sincerely,

Ms. Jessica Keck
