Federal Reserve Board Email comments

Dear Email comments,

last year while traveling in europe one of our family members got sick. concerned that my wells fargo credit card would not have a high enough credit limit to pay the hospital bill i transferred $5000 into the credit card from my savings account on line. i did not need this cash reserve on the credit card and when we returned to the US i withdrew the $5000 and put it back into my savings account. i was charged $197 for withdrawing cash from the credit card. i canceled the card.

Sincerely,

Mr. sami weir
