Comments:

I have been a member of Telhio Credit Union for about 7 years. I noticed in the last few months this new practice of charging a fee before the transaction clears. On one such purchase at Advance Auto Parts, I was charged one amount for a battery, before they took off $10 for the exchange of the old battery. In that short time frame, Telhio had charged me $25 for being a few dollars short, even though the $10 was immediately credited back. I tried to explain to a Telhio rep, but was instructed to take my case to Advance Auto. A week later I was charged $25 for being $.03 short on a pending transaction. It's pretty ridiculous to think of all the money they have been given out of my account over the years.
