

From: Tim Van Grove
Subject: Electronic Fund Transfers

Comments:

Banks should be required to let consumers know that their ATM card is going to trigger an overdraft. I consider that what the banks are doing is actually intentional fraud. They let you have the money (when the computer knows it is not there), and then charge you for a service you didn't authorize.
WOULD YOU PLEASE STOP THIS FRUADALENT PRACTICE.

If not, would you please start having ALL banking executives arrested immediately. MADOFF NEEDS SOME COMPANY.

Tim Van Grove