Please, Please put a stop to all this! The banks are definitely making a fortune and still asking for bailout money from the taxpayers. I think they should be required to process all transactions in the order received. It is much easier to accidentally overdraft your account now with all the automated deductions allowed on our accounts.

The problem with the economic system now is that all the rich people who are supposed to keep this country running by supplying jobs with "reasonable pay" (this is the reason they get all the tax breaks, right?), have steadily been making gigantic profits and not sharing the wealth with the folks who have actually done any work in the first place.

Now the folks that were considered middle class are barely making ends meet as the price of everything has steadily risen and their income has remained the same. It seems to me that if you make less than 100,000 a year, you are barely making ends meet, even in the slummiest of existence you can find.

It's pretty sad when your electric bill is more than the actual amount of your house payment less the taxes and insurance. The price of gas has gone up, the price of medical care has gone up, the price of everything has gone up and in the last 10 years, I've had one real raise, the rest were a measly 2% cost of living and we all know the cost of living has gone up way more than that. This year we got NOTHING..and are feeling quite grateful just to have a job!

WE NEED A PLAN TO STOP THE MADNESS ASAP!
