Not very intelligent, no wonder the entire US is getting pissed off at you guys, try to be smart...eliminating the competitive element from the lender compensation is going to do nothing aside from rewarding crooks, and costing consumers. If we can't make YSP, then we will be forced to put all the fees on the front of the loan, and that will cost the consumer more and make it so the banks can be as unpleasant as they want. Get a clue stupids.
