Comments:

I have received poor service from large banks from refused loans to ridiculous rates on a credit card (45%) when I had perfect credit, to identity theft from an employee. My Ira and home values have plummeted as a result of irresponsible bankers and I have not been made whole, while banks can pay high bonuses with my tax money and probably some of my IRA money too. Responsibility and accountability should come with the kind of power banks have. Martha Stewart was made into a fine example of how Citigroup and Goldman Sachs should be treated. Bonuses should be taxed at 99% until investors and homeowner are made whole.
