In imposing more fees when using a debit card people will stop spending by using their card. This will hurt the financial recovery of our nation. I use my debit and auto transfer of funds from my checking as it is easier and safer form of payment. I will just start using more cash and send payments by mail. I myself would consider changing where I bank by the fees imposed for us of a debit card. This is another slap in the face to the middle class down. People on a fix or low income are just barely making it now month to month. Imposing fees on the use of debit cards would cause financial hardship. When SSI and SS payments are all mostly placed in a checking or savings account. So who benefits, not anyone but the banking community, which some of them were bailed out by the government, which is the great people of the United States. Asking to please not change the banking laws that would let this happen.
