Are you kidding me? Only some idiot stupid politician would come up with such an asinine idea. These retards, along with the lamebrained banking industry, are what got us into this economic mess in the first place. I can think of countless reasons why this fool idea must not be enacted, but if they would just stop trying to regulate every little freedom we have, the country would be SO much better off. Let buyers and sellers buy and sell whatever they want on terms they agree on. Obviously they can do a better job of it than any pinhead banker anyway. Oh, and let's vote out all the scum in office now that come up with this kind of poop.
