Outlaw seller finance?! Really?! I've heard nothing but bad things about "the fed" but this is the topper. Aren't monopolies illegal? Making seller finance illegal or restricting it so that going to the bank (whether financing is obtained or not) would be the same creates a virtual monopoly for the banks. Now I know the fed and banks are in bed together but do you guys have to make ~all~ the money? You guys make me hate this country and have nothing but loathing for you. I don't think this comment will matter because you don't care about us, only making all the money for yourself. And now that I've expressed my freedom of speech against you, I expect to be hunted and punished. Well, I have nothing left anyway so when you jail me, I'll at least have a roof over my head and three meals a day. Being sodomized won't take much to get use to either as you have broken me in quite well. Sleep well in your mansions!
