Dodd-Frank Act.....I am a real estate agent and things are tough enough as it is. With this act you will make it extremely difficult for anyone to buy a home using seller financing. That's like you telling me I can't go and buy a shirt from Walmart without filling out paper work submitted to the government saying that you approve the purchase. When is government going to get out of the every day private sector? If someone wants to sell their home and give someone a chance at home ownership which by the way is the American dream who are you to dictate who can own a home and under what conditions in the private sector. You all have already screwed it up in the business sector and now you want to bury this country for good by interfering in the private lives of the average American citizen. Please stop doing so immediately. April Solomon/Realtor/GRI iNet Realty Group, Inc.
