This sounds like another bill which is meant to protect the banks NOT THE CONSUMERS, the same banks that cheated and lied before everything collapsed and now are not willing to loan money for mortgages unless the buyer could almost buy the house outright. All this is going to do is restrict the money out there for mortgages even more and ensure that it is only banks (the fat cats) who can get richer. The little people who cannot contribute the big bucks to campaigns do not have the same voice that the rich have.
