Once again the gov't wants to control everything.If a person or family has suffered financial hardships to where banks and all "normal" lending institutions will not extend them credit,how then can they possibly buy a home?Even families who have decent credit can't buy the home they want.I thought when some one paid off their home it was theirs,not the gov't.This is America,not Europe!Seller financing is necessary for all who welcome it.Back off Obama,Find money some place else,not our personal property!
