

From: Patricia Jorgensen
Subject: Incentive-Based Compensation

Comments:

I'm writing because I have seen the heartache and pain in my community from the economic collapse of 2008. Our government regulatory agencies have failed Americans miserably. They have stood by while banks and financial institutions have gambled taxpayer money on the stock market to raise their stock price, used shady accounting practices to make the bottom line look healthy and earn top execs millions of dollars in unearned bonuses. If those bonuses were gained by illegal or unapproved accounting methods, they should be forfeited and an investigation of the company's executives and finances should be done.

Thank you for considering my comment,

Patricia Jorgensen