Subject: Physical Commodities-FHCs

Comments:

These stories about financial institutions stockpiling food, fuel, and other goods in order to manipulate prices are beyond outrageous. I hope the Board of the Federal Reserve will do whatever it can to ensure that banks work to protect our economy and the public interest rather than endanger them. Forbidding financial institutions from buying up food, fuel and other materials needed by the public would be a good start.

Thank you for considering my comment,
