Subject: Physical Commodities-FHCs

Comments:

The USA has pushed Capitalism beyond the limits of its envelope. This has only been possible because big business, not the sorts of businesses on Main Street in downtown Walnut Creek, owns government, including the oversight and regulatory functions.

We have the spectacle of playing shell games with aluminum. I know my gas is more expensive because bankers are speculating on it. I know my country waged war on Iraq in my name for big oil, planning it at the offices of a Halliburton subsidiary. I now know I'm not paying a transaction tax for my country, the "Robin Hood tax," but to high frequency traders instead. I'm paying a tax to the Sheriff of Nottingham.

Enough is enough. Please put the big bankers back where they belong, making funds available for society's productive enterprises. Please protect the public instead of big business and big bankers.
